HISTORICAL MAPS OF INDIA

2

Its not possible on my part to ascertain which akhand bharat is in whose dreams. The broad historical data is in the following maps vande mataram. jay hind.

I just looked into maps of India through the history. Besides these there are many maps in the internet. Its not possible on my part to download them all and upload here. This I believed any way that these are all drawn by great research scholars. They have put in adequate hard labour and made the maps based on historical data available to them. So although these may not be hundred percent accurate still the pictures are broadly reliable.

Its not possible to know which map is in whose dream of undivided India - akhand bharat. The empires of the Mughals, of Harssavardhan, the Mauryas and of the Giptas are big enough in the maps.

Still India as it is now looks no way smaller than any of these in history. Of course the country would have been greater had there been no division in 1947. But what to do - the people of this country got divided in names of communities and violence spread. Resultant is the situation today.

May hatred and violence not arise from ground again. If any one speaks hate or aversion its wise not to listen.

Look how different it all looked only 300 years earlier with a myriad of tiny states. Were the Mughals instrumental in creating an Indian identity?
